DRIVEN INTO ARMY BY COLD.

Two Thousand Turn to Uncle Sam in One Day at New York.

New York, Jan. 31.—Driven by the intense cold and the general lack of demand for all sorts of labor, nearly 2,000 men applied for enlistment at the nine army recruiting stations in this city in the last twenty-four hours.

Few of them passed the rigid physical tests now being enforced. The number of men sent to Fort Sherman for final examination was estimated at 100.

While it was said that the unemployed situation is somewhat relieved, the number of applicants for the army is steadily increasing.

POSES AS MINISTER

Thief Finds It Profitable to Wear Clerical Garb.

HAS A "WHITE RAT" TICKET

Police Believe Burglar an Actor Out of Employment—Confesses to Fifty Robberies Within Five Weeks. Would Apply for Board and Room to Gain Entrances to Homes.

New York, Jan. 31.—Posing as a clergyman and pastor, and wearing clerical garb, a man of many aliases confessed at police headquarters to-day that he had committed more than fifty robberies in this city.

For the past five weeks there has hardly been a day that some boarding-house keeper has not reported having been robbed by a man who represented himself as a clergyman.

The man would apply for board and pay a small deposit, explaining that his trunk would be along from Philadelphia later. He would disappear after robbing the house and the guests.

"I am taking an extra course in theology," he explained.

Mrs. John McGuire, of 103 West Sixty-third street, gave board to the good-looking "clergyman" yesterday. He went to his room, one of the most expensive in the house, and later made for the street. Hardly had he gone when it was discovered he had taken a $5 overcoat, three watches and two rings.

When arrested to-day he said he was a cook. "But I haven't been working at cooking recently," he told Lieut. Mannion. "It wasn't as profitable as being a clergyman."

Lieut. Mannion said the man made a remarkable confession. "He said he recalled fifty robberies he has committed," the lieutenant began. "He declared he came here five weeks ago, and since then he has constantly posed as a clergyman."

In the man's pocket the detectives found a membership ticket to the "White Rat" society, which showed his dues had been paid up to May, 1908. He told the police that he was a member of the White Rat. This leads to the belief that he is an actor out of a position.

LECTURES ON THE VOICE.

Mrs. Reed Gives Last of Series of Talks for the Week.

"Deep Breathing and the Conversational Voice" was the subject of a lecture delivered last night by Mrs. M. Landau Reed at the home of Dr. Agnes Rainey, 6 Dupont circle.

The lecture was the last of a series given by Mrs. Reed this week, and was conceded the best and most complete. She told of the necessity of deep breathing, as it not only fills and strengthens the lungs, but aids in talking and singing, and gives better circulation and increased vitality. Of the conversational voice, she said it was part of the human being and could be cultivated as any other gift. Of all our natural endowments, the conversational voice is the most sensitive and beautiful, she declared, and should be treated with greatest care. Elocution, with its dramatic voice and gesture, has passed into history, and a rational method based on psychological laws has taken its place.

The cast of characters was as follows: Bachelors, "Watson," A. K. Wimer; "Swift," Elmer S. Frazier; "Bogus," George M. Weber; "Caywood," Emory Groff; "Beach," J. Wesley Wimer; "Abbot," Charles P.
